Keep the beat

Here's a simple game that's perfect for every pop prince and princess. All you need is a car stereo and tip-top singing voices.

While travelling switch on some music and get everyone singing out loud and proud. And when everyone's in the swing – keep singing, but turn the music off. Then, 10 seconds later turn the music back on again.

If you're still in time and tune then you've won. Give it a try – it's not as simple as it sounds.

And for a bit of extra fun why not have an in-car competition to see who's got the best musical timing. Each person chooses a favourite song and belts it out, first with the sound on, and then off.
