Number plate game

*Kids love making up stories.
So try this game to spark their imagination.*

It's as easy as this – everyone chooses a passing car and memorises the last three letters of its number plate.

Now make a story using the letters as inspiration. Use the first letter to decide the name of the main character. The second letter can be an item or animal that's in the story. And the third – what the character was doing.

You'll be amazed at the stories. And who knows – maybe you'll encourage the next J K Rowling.
