Safety

You'll see our AA Vans in many places such as parked up, on the way to a breakdown, fixing a vehicle at the roadside, in a car park or on the hard shoulder of a motorway.

Wherever you see an AA van it's important not to put yourself or other road users in danger if you're going to take a picture.

On the move:

- If you're a passenger then snapping one of our AA Vans is fine BUT never if you're driving.

- If you pass an AA Van at a breakdown on the roadside or hard shoulder don't pull in and stop nearby just to take a picture. Our AA Vans will be close to fast moving traffic, in a hazardous location and parked to protect the breakdown scene.
- In quiet streets or car parks, pull in and stop only if it's legal and safe to do so, but don't stop suddenly – always consider other road users.

On foot:

If you're on foot, then snapping one of our AA Vans is likely to be easier and safer but you'll still need to be aware of traffic and others around you.

- Stay on the pavement or marked footways, well out of the way of moving traffic.
- Be aware of what's behind and around you – it's all too easy to step backwards off the kerb as you frame your snap.

Photographers will need to be sensitive if the van is parked or working on a private driveway and bear in mind that some people don't like having their photograph taken. You must obtain the consent of any individuals you have pictured in your photograph.
